Transitional arrangements International Business Administration

Introduction
In September 2014 a new curriculum for the Bachelor’s programme International Business Administration is launched, starting with the first year programme. The new second year and third year programme will subsequently start in September 2015 and 2016. This means that, as from the academic year 2014 – 2015, the first year courses from the old curriculum will not be taught anymore. The Faculty Board has, in accordance with the Exam regulations and in consultation with the Programme Directors, Examination Board and the Joint Meeting, made transitional arrangements for students who did not pass one or more courses from the old first year curriculum.

General Information

- These transitional arrangements apply only to the first-year courses of the old Bachelor’s programme International Business Administration and are valid only in the academic year 2014 – 2015.
- For all first-year courses included in the old curriculum and assessed by means of a written exam, two exam opportunities will be offered in the year 2014 - 2015.
- First-year courses from the old curriculum assessed by means of a formal assignment can be completed in the year 2014 – 2015 by handing in a new assignment.
- The validity of constituent results for courses that form part of the old first-year Bachelor’s programme and were obtained in the year 2013 – 2014 will be extended to August 31, 2015.
- The Binding Study Advice regarding continuation of studies (BSA) applies in full, so the only students who are entitled to these transitional arrangements are students who will receive a preliminary positive advice in July / August 2014 or who will be granted an extension of the binding advice by the BSA committee.
- Students who have been granted an extension are urged to transfer to the new programme. They will be allowed to start afresh, which means that they can take two more years to obtain all first-year credits provided that they meet the BSA conditions before September 1st, 2015. All students concerned will be invited in the summer by the Academic Advisors for an individual meeting.
